Sports and Health journalism Master degree

Being conscious of the importance of this field, ILCS has been launched since 1996, to be the first private institute of journalism in Morocco. Its quality training continues, until now, to enrich the job market with French and English speaking journalists. The insertion rate of journalists graduating from ILCS is 100%.

Join ILCS is to benefit from

- An open vision of the professions of the future;
- An innovative educational approach “learning by doing”;
- A para-university activity program centered on the development of competent citizens;
- A teaching team of university professors and experienced professionals;
- Constantly listening to the needs of the job market...
